This paper will incorporate information from several different articles on writing a research paper, specifically focusing on organization. First we will discuss creating an outline, then continue on with the organization of the rest of the paper from the abstract through the conclusion and reference list.